Meet the needs of a global enterprise with the power of voice, video and collaboration backed by flexible, efficient cloud deployment.

Engineered for large companies with more than 250 users

Large companies spend an average 72% of their IT budgets just to “keep the lights on.”* You don’t have to be one of them. We want to help you free up capital and headcount for projects that drive revenue and make you look good.

With Mitel MiCloud Enterprise, you can get all the tools you need for Fortune 500-style business communications—voice telephony, collaboration tools, conferencing, and much more—hosted in the cloud. We manage it. You get back to business.

That means reduced I.T. expenses and headcount for everyday operations. It means no more endless hardware upgrade cycles and no more outdated software. But most of all, it means seamless communications anywhere, any time on any device.

Discover what MiCloud can do for you.
